Happy Summer everyone, wanted to give you an update!!

July 2020

I arrived in Haiti July 2nd two days after the Haiti Port au Prince airport opened. Tickets are now less than half the price of what we paid in the past. This was one of my best trips. This is a picture of me on the plane. I hate flying like this.

The kids are all doing great and I had missed them so much. I brought school clothes, medicine, everyday clothes, shoes, other needed items and even two basketballs. I am shopping already for the next trip which is August 26th.

These are pictures of Robitini, Lorens and Misrose eating their normal meal of fish, beans and rice.

We are getting cages for rabbits and chickens so we can have eggs and more meat. We are also planting a garden

How many people can you fit in one wheelchair!!!

I was in Haiti over July 4th. I sent the following picture -- Happy July 4th to family and friends!!

Look at the meal our Sawrens made me. He even made the tortillas from scratch.

Two more years of school and we can put him in culinary school! We have had Sawrens since he was 6 years old. I told another missionary he wanted to be a chef and "Please hire him to wash dishes at the RED DOOR" and Sawrens became a chef after school and on weekends. He blesses our orphanage! He cares for all the other kids and helps us so much.

My best part of the day is our devotion time at night after the little ones have gone to bed.

Even the nannies and security guard attends. We do a Bible study, sing worship songs, pray, tell the best part of our day and talk and laugh. It's so amazing!! They love it as much as I do!

On the right is our last house.

It is not finished on the inside yet, but as we get the funding, we will do so.

Market in Haiti. Our big days are Tuesdays and Saturdays

Our wonderful cook Guerlande recently gave her life to Jesus. We gave her a Bible and now she comes to our devotions. The kids were so extra excited about this!! She sure loves our kids and is so good to them.

Above is a picture of her with Alex (a/k/a Sofa Couch -- because I couldn't say his real name) making spaghetti. The kids love her.

Our nanny Merlande comes daily. She does school along with crafts with the kids.

The kids sure love to swing.

Renel lived with us for over ten years. He did move back to his village but we still support him because his mother is very poor.

One more year of high school and we will pray for sponsors to support him in college because he wants to become an engineer.

What we would like to do is to be able to find sponsors for the kids, and it could be more than one for each child, to help those who can pursue more education. We pay for all of their schooling.

These three went to a little Haitian school last year but, praise God, that all three just got accepted into one of the best Christian schools in Haiti where a couple of our other kids attend. They have computers, a skill center, a medical clinic, serve lunch, a soccer team and much more!

Isaac, 4, is on the left. When he came, he was unable to walk at all. We taught him to walk by holding his hands at first, with braces that were brought from America. Then we had him walk with a walker, and now he can walk by himself, even though he is a little crippled.

The next one is Ebertina, who will be 4 in October. She is the girl who has no fingers and has a cleft palate. She is on a waiting list for SMILE TRAIN to repair her mouth.

Wedmyko, who was 4 in May, is the one on the right. He has a rare bone disease and his legs are on a 45 degree angle. He also has severe club feet. His condition is inoperable and cannot be corrected.

My sister Jill sent Lorens and Robitini watches and shirts. They were elated.

I can now set up an account with a Haitian company that will allow us to order from Amazon and we pay extra for him to fly it to Haiti and then we pick it up in St Marc, about 40 minutes from our house. I need to get this all set up and will do a Wish List. You can even call me 989-305-0888 or email me at godblessinhaiti@gmail.com if you're interested.

Many missions are failing and even closing but, thanks to God and all of your financial support and prayers, we are getting by. Praise God and thank You JESUS!!!!!! So I want to sincerely thank all of you for all you do for the kids, the employees and even the temporary workers we hire.

May God protect you all from any harm, danger or illness. If you want to be more filled with the HOLY SPIRIT and have greater joy and learn to trust and never worry or be anxious you should listen to Graham Cooke and his "soaking" series.

Because of Christ,

Love to you all,

Ann
